

SPECTRUM SAXOPHONE QUARTET

The Spectrum Saxophone Quartet, consisting of Stephanie Schoiswohl, Florian Bauer, Daniel Dundus and Severin Neubauer, is a young and dynamic ensemble from Austria which was founded in 2020. The musicians obtained their training in Classical and Contemporary Saxophone at the KUG - University of Music and Performing Arts Graz (Austria) with Prof. Gerald Preinfalk. The four members of the ensemble are not only connected through their academic training but also through a long friendship and collaborations in numerous genres. Even though only founded in 2020, the quartet can already look upon a multitude of successful concerts on a national and international stage. The Spectrum Saxophone Quartet was accepted for “The New Austrian Sound of Music (NASOM) 2023/24“, a sponsorship scheme by the BMEIA in cooperation with mica in the category “Contemporary Music“. With the new CD “en dehors“, the Spectrum Saxophone Quartet puts their musical goals centre stage, in order to elicit a broad spectrum of facets and sound innovations from their instruments and to bring the variety of Austrian contemporary saxophone music to the limelight. SPECTRUM – a young ensemble that entirely focuses on the saxophone and its infinite artistic possibilities.